Plagiarism is a form of cheating in academic field. It is an action of copying words, ideas, computer codes or any work from others without giving them full acknowledgment for the production of the academic work (e.g. assignments, projects, reports, essays or other equivalent written assignments).

GMI considers plagiarism as a serious breach of academic conduct. Students who are caught doing so will face severe penalty decided by the Departmental Academic Committee (DAC) and the case may be brought up to the Management Academic Committee (MAC). If it is identified that the student has plagiarised his or her work, the penalties can be one or the combination of the following depending on the severity and whether there were any previous offences.

- A re-submission of the academic work within a suitable duration determined by the Technical Training Officer (TTO)
- An award of FAIL grade for that particular academic work
- An award of FAIL grade for that particular course

In order to avoid being penalised, a student is urged to seek clarification from the TTO prior to submission of such work. A student should also know the techniques to include the information taken from others. A student can use several techniques such as quotation, paraphrase and citation.

A quotation is a word for word presentation of what is said or written in someone else's work. It is presented using quotation marks ("..."). The source of the quote must be cited in the text and reference list.

A paraphrase is a restatement of what someone else wrote or said (in your own words). The source of the paraphrase must be cited in the text and reference list.

A citation is an identification of the source of quote, paraphrase or summary. A full citation is required in text or in a bibliography/reference at the end of the text and should include author and title of the article/journal/ book, year and place of publication, publisher, page number, website address, etc.

- c. Credit value – equivalent to credit value/currency (for example, 2 courses with 2 credits in each course could be combined and transfer into one course with 3 credits; thus, the credit transferred is 3)

21.4 Horizontal Credit Transfer

The horizontal credit transfer policy is based on the following situation:

- a. Credit transfer is not allowed for qualified students (e.g., Diploma in Software Engineering) who wish to pursue the same programme (e.g., Diploma in Software Engineering) in the same or different institutions.
- b. Credit transfer is allowed for a student that wants to change to another programme in the same field. If the change is within the same institutes, there is no credit transfer limit, but it is subject to the established credit transfer requirement. On the other hand, if the change is at a different institute, the percentage of the credit transfer is subjected to one semester of student's academic residential requirement. For Diploma program accredited by ETAC, the maximum transferable credits will be limited to 50% of the total graduation requirement as set by the Engineering Accreditation Council (EAC)
- c. Credit transfer (including compulsory courses) is not allowed for a student that has failed in the programme of study and plans to pursue the study in the same programme at the same level of academic qualification at other institution.
- d. Credit transfer is allowed to students that discontinue the programme and plan to resume their studies in another programme at the same qualification level.
- e. Credit transfer is not allowed for students that failed their studies and want to resume their studies but in other programmes at the same qualification level.
- f. If the programme is taken in GMI, no credit transfer limit is subjected to the credit transfer requirement.

Academic Residential Requirement<sup>1</sup>

The residency period is the duration of a student's presence (physical/non-physical) on the premises of the institution that awards the qualification after the student registers to pursue a study program at that institution.

The residency period is required for students who are still studying but wish to transfer to another institution to pursue a program at the same qualification level based on the Malaysian Qualifications

Academic residential requirement are as follows:

21.5 MPU Credit Transfer / Course Exemption

Vertical Course Exemption:

Students are only allowed to transfer credits once throughout their study period. If a student has already transferred credits vertically for courses Penghayatan Etika dan Peradaban, Falsafah dan Isu Semasa and Kursus Integriti dan Anti-Rasuah (KIAR) at the diploma level and continues their studies at the bachelor's degree level, the student will be exempted from taking the specific course and will need to take other subjects to fulfil the required credit hours for graduation

Horizontal Credit Transfer:

Courses in Group U1 of the MPU (General Studies) are allowed to be horizontally transferred as a group (package). The achievement of learning outcomes is assessed based on group-based learning outcomes rather than individual courses. Students who have completed all the courses in Group U1 of the previous institution are considered to have achieved the group-based learning outcomes for Group U1 courses and are eligible to transfer credits to another institution without considering the difference in credit hours between the previous and new institutions.

This is in line with the implementation of credit transfer for MOOCs (Massive Open Online Courses) and APEL(C) (Accreditation of Prior Experiential Learning), providing cost savings for students. Students are eligible for horizontal credit transfer if they can be assessed through a rapid process and are confirmed to have achieved the targeted learning outcomes. This includes whether the student has taken the same or equivalent courses in a previous formal education program, MOOCs, or non-formal education programs.

The implementation of the horizontal credit transfer policy based on groups for Group U1 MPU courses is effective for all students currently enrolled in the academic session.

Credit transfer is allowed for other group of MPU courses subjected to condition in item 21.1 and 21.2 in this rules and regulations.
